

ASYLUM SEEKER AND REFUGEE FORUM

The Ballarat Diocesan Social Justice Commission members have been deeply concerned regarding the number of people forcibly displaced globally. According to UNHCR, by the end of 2014, 59.5 million individuals were forcibly displaced worldwide as a result of persecution, conflict, generalized violence or human rights violations. An increase of 51.2 million on that of 2013, making this the highest ever increase annually.

In January of this year, Pope Francis raised the problem of the world's indifference to asylum seekers at his annual meeting with members of the Diplomatic Corps accredited to the Holy See. In March 2015, Pope Francis highlighted the need to overcome a 'globalisation of indifference' to the most vulnerable and marginalised of the world.

In an effort to become better informed and, at the same time, raise awareness within the broader community, the Commission set about hosting a Refugee and Asylum Seeker Forum, "Sanctuary Ballarat, Welcome the Stranger." Local Ballarat Asylum Seeker and Refugee Support Groups were invited to come to a meeting to join with us in planning this event. Master of Ceremonies for the Forum was Counsellor Belinda Coates of the Ballarat City Council.

Keynote Speakers were invited to address global and national issues. They were Daniel Webb, Director of Legal Advocacy from the Human Rights Law Centre and Sr Brigid Arthur csb from the Brigidine Asylum Seekers Project.

Among the many issues Daniel spoke about was the human rights challenges faced in Australia by asylum seekers and refugees with major changes to the law and policy which affects asylum seekers, this in turn, eroding their democratic freedom. The issues that surround Temporary Protection Visas (TPVs); Safe Haven Enterprise Visas (SHEVs) and Refoulement. That is, where Australia expels a person who has the right to be recognised as a refugee (the principal of non-refoulement having first being laid out in 1954 in the UN-Convention relating to the Status of Refugees). Australia has non-refoulement obligations under both the refugee convention and the convention against torture: "No State Party shall expel, return [refouler] or extradite a person to another State where there are substantial grounds for believing that he would be in danger of being subjected to torture."

The second Keynote Speaker, Sr Brigid Arthur, spoke of the work that the Brigidines supporting refugees through their project. For example visiting asylum seekers in detention centres; providing accommodation to a number of asylum seekers; supporting asylum seekers on bridging visas and lobbying the government to promote changes to policy and procedures that contradict the sisters foundational beliefs, to name a few. Sr Brigid also shared some of the experiences of her work with refugees and the many issues they face when placing their applications, the difficulties involved.

Following the keynote speakers, two refugees shared their personal journey in securing refugee status here in Australia. Although different, both in time and situation, the telling of their stories was inspirational, demonstrating amazing courage of parents wanting to secure freedom and safety for their child and another, a youth fleeing atrocities in search of living a life in safety, in freedom and with dignity.

Another aim of the Forum was to highlight the outstanding work of the many local organisations that support asylum seekers and refugees (including youth) in the Ballarat and outlying districts. The many issues and challenges they face. A panel of representatives from a few of these organisations responded to the many queries from the attendees. Each Ballarat group had representatives present with an information table providing a display of their various activities.

A list of these groups follows should you wish to follow up and learn more about the work that they do or how you can offer support if you wish to become involved.

Amnesty International (Ballarat)	Amnesty International is a global movement of more than 7 million people in over 150 countries and territories who campaign to end abuses of human rights. Through detailed research and determined campaigning, we help fight abuses of human rights worldwide. We bring torturers to justice. Change oppressive laws. And free people jailed just for voicing their opinion. Since Amnesty began in 1961, Amnesty activists have been ready to spring into action for people facing imminent danger in detention. While there have been thousands of victories, systemic change is harder to come by, and far too many people are still languishing in isolation, incommunicado, in fear. The Amnesty International Ballarat Group has a small group of enthusiastic members who are committed to human rights. Our particular focus for this year includes refugees and asylum seekers, ending the death penalty and aboriginal youth justice.	Mary Quinn amnestyballarat@gmail.com
Asylum Seeker Resource Centre The	The Asylum Seeker Resource Centre is Australia’s leading asylum seeker organisation. BRASSN	Ballarat Refugee and Asylum Seeker Support Network (aka BRASSN pronounced BRAZEN) was established in 2013 following a public forum to inform Ballarat on refugee and asylum seekers in our community. The network participants have included volunteers, both individuals, and representatives from local community organisations. Community members, including refugees and asylum seekers, with an interest in the issues, are encouraged to become involved. New members are welcome. The network meets regularly on the first Monday of each month at BRMC office immediately following the 1pm meeting of the broader Multicultural Advocacy and Events Action Group. The BRASSN aims to raise awareness and resources, and promote community engagement for new refugees and asylum seekers in Ballarat. In 2015 a calendar of actions and events has been developed. Key BRASSN activities so far have included advocacy, liaison with other groups such as ASRC, fund raising and financial support provision, development of a Migration Advice Clinic and coordination of Refugee Week. New members are welcome.	102 English Street Golden Point Ph: 5332-5941 E. admin@brmc.org.au

Centre for Multicultural Youth	CMY is a Victorian not-for-profit organization supporting young people from migrant & refugee backgrounds to build better lives in Australia. Established in 1988, it was the first organisation in Australia to work exclusively with migrant and refugee young people. In 1988, the Victorian Government established an Ethnic Youth Issues Network (EYIN) and CMY CEO Carmel Guerra, was employed as the first EYIN Project Officer. In 2000, under the auspice of the Australian Multicultural Foundation, the EYIN re-launched itself as the Centre for Multicultural Youth Issues (CMYI). The new name reflected the growth of the organisation from a network to becoming a central point of referral, information and research. After 20 years of development and growth, CMYI made a decision to take the momentous step of becoming an independent organisation and officially became the Centre for Multicultural Youth on 1 July 2008. There is still much work to be done in supporting young people from migrant and refugee backgrounds to build better lives in Australia.	C/O Federation University SMB Campus, 12/107, Lydiard Street South, Ballarat, 3350 Ph: 5317 7172 E: ballarat@cmymy.net.au
Grandmothers Against Detention of Refugee Children	Grandmothers against Detention of Refugee Children (GADRC) This is a newly-formed advocacy group campaigning against the detention of asylum seeker children. The group was launched on the steps of St Paul's Cathedral in September last year, and has quickly gathered momentum across the state. There are already over 800 hundred members, mostly grandmothers, but also friends and relatives of Grandmothers – FROGs. The grandmothers are united in their horror at the heartless treatment and psychological damage inflicted on vulnerable, innocent children and are determined to take their campaign to every federal MP. They are calling on all Australians to join with them in demanding the release of all asylum seeker and refugee children in detention. With their years of wisdom, compassion and determination, these grandmothers (and their FROGs) could well become the most formidable opponents of the heartless policies of the Government.	GADRC: Gwenda Davey grandmothersref@gmail.com  Find us on: facebook GADRC Website: http://www.grandmothersadrc.org GADRC – Ballarat: Cath McDonald pmcdonald1@bigpond.com GADRC – Grampians/Gariwerd Robyn Wood hortschi007@gmail.com
