

THE EUREKA DINNER

The Eureka dinner was established in 2004 to recognise and celebrate the collaboration between schools and the local community in education in Ballarat. The inaugural dinner was hosted by St Patrick's College in 2004. Each year, the local schools take it in turn to host the dinner. It is a chance for schools to invite a table of guests from the community, to honour these partnerships. The 2015 Eureka dinner was hosted by Ballarat Clarendon College with Dr Joe Fleming, the Ballarat Campus Dean from Australian Catholic University the guest speaker.

The dinner symbolises the importance of strong local links between Ballarat schools and the local community. The schools value these partnerships and long may they continue.
