Gospel Reflection – © Veronica Lawson RSM

This week's gospel reading continues the story of Jesus in the synagogue at Nazareth. At first he is universally accepted: the townspeople marvel at the gracious words he utters and identify him as Joseph's son. By the end of the story, however, these same people actually try to kill him. So, what happens in between to cause such a dramatic change of heart? These are religious people, not an unruly street mob. They are friends of the family. They are familiar with their sacred texts and traditions and presumably want to understand them more fully. In fact, they are like most of us who take time out on a weekly basis to come together in worship and prayer with those who share our faith.

Unfortunately, the people of Nazareth seem to be carrying a sense of exclusive entitlement to God's favour, as well as some deeply entrenched prejudices against the neighbouring Syrians and Phoenicians. Their history is largely one of conflict with neighbours, of struggle for survival, and some are unwilling to relinquish their unhealed local and national grievances. When Jesus suggests that God's prophetic and healing power is accessible to and may even be more readily received among foreigners than within Israel, their anger knows no bounds: it spills over into violence.

They have little patience with the implicit criticism and the prophetic challenge of his words. One of the problems with the narrative is that Jesus seems to deliberately provoke a negative reaction. There are other problems as well: there is no cliff in Nazareth from which the enraged crowd could cast him to his death, and it is highly unlikely that people of this tiny town of two to four hundred Galilean Jews would resort to murdering one of their own for what they perceive as a verbal assault. So what is going on? It would seem that the gospel writer is putting elements of later stories about the violent treatment of Jesus and his followers into this episode in order to foreshadow what is to come.

The story thus becomes a microcosm of the gospel as a whole. When the message is comforting, the messenger is well received. When it is less palatable, the messenger is in danger of being attacked, more often than not at the hands of people who are basically good, people like us. Unchecked assumptions, deep-seated biases, and uncontrolled emotions will function to bring the anointed prophet of the God of Israel to a violent death. This story invites us to check our assumptions and our biases lest we turn to physical, verbal, or emotional violence in the face of prophetic challenge.

Standing in Solidarity with our Indian Community

The Cathedral Parish and the Knights of the Southern Cross will host a bbq on Sunday January 31st at 6.00 pm in the Cathedral grounds. All are welcome to join the gathering which will provide us with an opportunity to express our welcome to all who come to our Ballarat community and to take a stand against any form of racism, particularly in the light of the December bashing of Indian-born Ballarat man Sumeet Anand. This gathering will also provide us with an opportunity to meet and welcome Fr Sajan who has come from Kerala, India to minister in the Diocese of Ballarat.

CWL General Members

New Music for the Year of Mercy

With Lent almost upon us (Ash Wednesday February 10th) and during this Year of Mercy, the Liturgy Committee has decided to introduce a new psalm to be sung throughout the Lenten Season. This setting for the Psalm "With You O Lord" was composed by Bishop Paul Bird and fits in so well with the Season and the Jubilee Year. The Cathedral Parish community is invited to attend a singing practice on Monday 1st February at 7.00 pm until 7.30 pm in the Cathedral.

Palms from Palm Sunday last year please place them in basket in the south transept to be burnt & used on Ash Wednesday (February 10th). Thankyou.
