Responsorial Psalm (R.) If today you hear his voice, harden not your hearts.

1. Come, ring out our joy to the Lord;
hail the rock who saves us.
Let us come before him, giving
thanks,
with songs let us hail the Lord. (R.)

2. Come in; let us bow and bend
low;
let us kneel before the God who made us
for he is our God and we
the people who belong to his pasture,
the flock that is led by his hand. (R.)

3. O that today you would listen to his voice!
'Harden not your hearts as
at Meribah, as on that day
at Massah in the desert
when your fathers put me to the test;
when they tried me, though they saw my work.' (R.)

Gospel Acclamation

Alleluia, alleluia!
Glory to the Father, the Son, and
the Holy Spirit: to God who is, who was, and who is to come.
Alleluia!
(You are reminded that Gospel Acclamation, if not sung, is to be omitted)

Nationwide Month of Prayer and Fasting for Marriage and Families – October 2016

The month of prayer and fasting is intended to be held in parishes across Australia during October 2016 as the nation prepares for a conversation on marriage. Parishes are encouraged to celebrate Mass, pray the Rosary and undertake Adoration of the Blessed Sacrament during this time with the special intention of marriages and families in mind.

God’s in Charge ... You’re Free!

It’s very predictable. Often when I talk with a group of high school students, I ask who would like more freedom from parents. Most hands shoot up.

It’s normal for young people to thirst for freedom, just like it’s normal for parents to get nervous about granting it. But this week’s Gospel is all about freedom – the freedom that comes when you realise God’s in charge and you’re not.

Our culture is pretty competitive. Who will get the best grades? Who will win the game? Who will look the best? It’s easy for life to become nothing but one long final exam where success means everything. And that’s when life becomes pretty meaningless. Jesus offers us so much by reminding us that we’re God’s servants.

But how’s that better? After all, who wants to be a servant when they grow up?

It’s better because it frees us. God’s in charge. We can’t solve the world’s problems. That’s God’s job. So don’t worry about being a successful Christian. God asks you only to faithfully do what you can, remembering that God’s love doesn’t depend on your success.

We’re free. We’re free to take risks for our faith because we don’t need to worry about success. A lot of young people have inspired me by that willingness. “What have I got to lose?” they’ve said as they’ve signed up for service trips or joined youth groups. And the more you risk things for God, the Master, the more you’ll get what the Apostles wanted in this week’s Gospel: more faith. Risking for faith is like lifting weights – it builds spiritual muscle.

What a gift God has given us by taking charge. In a world where you might feel responsible for so much, enjoy the freedom that comes from being God’s servant.

Does your fear of failure ever stop you from taking risks for your faith?

REFLECTION by Fr Michael Tate

The loving gaze of a mother towards her newborn simply gives rise to the obligation to feed the baby. There is no special reward for doing her motherly duty. This is how Jesus sees ‘good works’. If we perceive our relationships with people correctly, then so-called ‘good works’ are no more than our duty and don’t deserve special congratulatory access to Heaven.

If we saw human beings as ‘formed from the dust of the earth, . . . a manifestation of God in the world, a sign of his presence, a trace of his glory’ (St John Paul II, Evangelium Vitae 34.2), then that perception leads to certain ways of relating which are obliging. Like the servant in the story, we will have done no more than our duty.

We might take a moment to pause to get our perception of human beings correct so that our response may prepare us for the free gift of heavenly life.
