Observations on the upcoming postal plebiscite on same-sex marriage

Debra Vermeer, Chair, Australian Catholic Media Council says that the Coalition for Marriage is the key campaigning entity for the 'No' vote. The Coalition has highlighted four key issues of focus in its campaign. They are: Freedom of religion, Freedom of speech, Gender identity, Safe Schools.

The Media Council proposes three simple, clear points: Enrol to Vote - This vote is important for the life of our nation. It is important to enrol to vote. A chance to have your say - If you believe that the traditional definition of marriage has served society, families and children well, and should continue to be protected under the law, but maybe feel as though your voice has not been heard, now is the time to have your say in the privacy of your own home, on the ballot paper. Religious liberty/freedom of speech - If you believe in your right to state and live your belief in traditional marriage without being legally penalised for doing so, then consider the consequences if same-sex marriage becomes law.

Basically, it's providing a positive argument for marriage as we currently understand it, and helping to mobilise people in support of it, rather than a negative campaign against same-sex marriage. The Council feels it would also be helpful to encourage people to be respectful of all sides in the debate.

Today, the Catholic Church in Australia observes Migrant and Refugee Sunday. The Church in Australia is the Church of migrant Catholics from many countries and where the Holy Mass is celebrated in more than thirty languages every Sunday. Migrants leave their homes in search of a better life and face the difficult experience of migration in its various forms. The theme chosen by Pope Francis for this year's World Day of Migrants and Refugees is "Child Migrants, the vulnerable and voiceless." As Christians, we are called to reach out to and pray for all migrants to emphasise the unity of the human family and the Gospel values of acceptance, hospitality and love of neighbour.

Gospel Reflection

Today's Gospel teaches us that at the heart of the mission there must be an inter-personal relationship. This is most true for the mission to migrants, refugees and people who are on the move for many different reasons. Our parish communities have the responsibility to find migrants and refugees, especially the young migrants and to reach out to them to build inter personal relationships. We need to offer places and opportunities where the migrant youth can express their faith and to share their experience. Very many of the youth in our parishes come from important experiences of faith and involvement in the Church back home and some have suffered a great deal for the sake of their faith. The question: "who do you say I am" challenges us: as Christians, we are called to create inter personal relationships that, by promoting every human person, can bring all to the encounter with Christ recognised as "the Son of God". The pastoral document Welcoming Christ in Refugees and Forcibly Displaced Persons helps us to build the depth of this inter personal relationship: In the "strangers" the Church sees Christ who "pitches his tent among us" and that "knocks at our door" [n. 22]. It also points out that very often, "through the action inspired by the Gospel of Church related agencies, or even individuals, wrought with great generosity and self-sacrifice, one comes to know the love of Christ and the transforming power of His grace in these situations that are, in themselves, very often hopeless" [n. 3]
