26th Sunday in Ordinary Time / Year B 29th & 30th September 2018

Sometimes we act and speak as though we have the monopoly on access to the power of God although we have no such monopoly. In today's gospel Jesus seems to be telling his disciples that God works through people of good will, irrespective of whether they are on the edge ("not one of us") or at the centre of the kingdom of God movement. Much the same message is found in the first reading from the Book of Numbers which has Joshua, assistant to Moses, trying to exclude two men from prophesying on somewhat tenuous grounds.

Moses does not take Joshua's advice. On the contrary, he prays that the Spirit of God might "rest on" and, by implication, work through all of God's people. Both the gospel passage and the reading from Numbers seem to be warning against attempts to control or domesticate the Spirit of God. The second part of the gospel reading (9:42-48) brings a dramatic change of mood as it takes up the issue of scandalising the "little ones". The reference to "little ones" marks a return to the scene in the latter part of last week's gospel reading where Jesus takes a little child in his arms and instructs his disciples.

The horror of harming the little ones is dramatised in a series of sayings that challenge the most vivid imagination. These sayings are hardly intended to be taken literally. Cutting off offending limbs only deals with the symptoms. It may, however, offer some solace to those little ones who have suffered "scandal" or worse to know that there is no stronger condemnation in the gospels than that reserved for those who bring harm to children and to vulnerable others. We are impelled to do everything in our power to heal the hurts of the past and to create conditions that ensure the protection and safety of our children.

The provision of secure and affordable housing for vulnerable families is one response to this gospel challenge. Today is Social Justice Sunday in Australian Catholic communities. In their choice of title for the 2018-2019 Social Justice Statement, the Australian bishops remind us that everyone needs a place to call home. The escalating cost of housing and of rental properties has accelerated the problem of homelessness. Homelessness, they insist, "is a challenge for all levels of society: for government, for Church and community, and for us as individuals. Each one of us can make a difference and, when we join with others, we can be a real force for change...." To take up the challenge of addressing homelessness is to accept the invitation of Pope Francis to live the eighth work of mercy. It involves imagination and industry. It means visualising new possibilities and engaging in simple daily gestures that have the potential to bring life to the "little ones" of this world.

SEASON OF CREATION

The Season of Creation extends from September 1st to October 4th the feast of St Francis patron saint of ecology. Christians around the world unite to pray and care for creation. Each week we will follow a different theme. This week is Animal Sunday. Animals refer to all the living beings in the community of life, from microbes in soil, to worms, insects, fish, birds, reptiles, mammals, domesticated or wild. Acknowledging that humans are part of the profoundly related animal community, we honour and pray for the other-than-human community. We celebrate this Sunday with all the living beings we love. We join the Psalmists and rejoice with our kin. We sing with gratitude for all in the community of life, upon which our lives depend. Our lives are made richer when we pay attention to the voice of each one. Don't forget to continue to say the prayer for creation

Reading from Pope Francis, Laudato Si' 96 – 100, 243

Christ, who took unto himself this material world, is intimately present to each creature, surrounding it with his affection, illuminating it and directing it towards fullness in God. The very flowers of the field and the birds which his human eyes contemplated and admired are now imbued with his radiant presence... Eternal life will be a shared experience of awe in which each creature, resplendently transfigured, will take its rightful place... all creation will share with us in unending plenitude.

Prayer for the day:

*Living mystery,
You draw us toward deeper communion with all beings,
to love all creatures as kin,
all animals as partners with humans on Earth,
all birds as messengers of the sacred,
all minute beings as expressions of your mysterious design and all frogs as voices of hope. Amen.*

Overview:

The Australian Catholic Bishops' Social Justice Statement for 2018–19 is titled 'A Place to Call Home: Making a home for everyone in our land'. The latest Census figures show that more than 116,000 Australians are homeless – something unacceptable for a rich and well-resourced nation like ours. Yet these people are only the tip of the iceberg: welfare agencies report growing numbers of families and individuals struggling to meet the cost of mortgages or rents and turning to specialist housing services, which are often unable to meet demand. House prices and even rents are spiralling out of reach of too many families and placing huge financial stress on ordinary people, even when they are employed. For those living on pensions or allowances, finding secure housing can be a far greater challenge – one that often takes a terrible toll on social wellbeing and mental health.

The Statement draws on the example of people who have gone out of their way to assist sisters and brothers in great need, of agencies and charities of the Church that have provided shelter, safety and care, and of Pope Francis, who himself has reached out to men and women on the streets of Rome and reminded us forcefully of the rights of people experiencing homelessness around the world.

The Bishops consider the extent of our housing crisis and Australia's falling rates of home ownership. They focus especially on those in our society who are most vulnerable to housing insecurity and homelessness. brother and sister in need of a place to call home that urges us on to confront the growing challenge of homelessness and housing insecurity in Australia.

(Copies available at Church door)

If I encounter a person sleeping outdoors on a cold night, I can view him or her as an annoyance, an idler, an obstacle in my path, a troubling sight, a problem for politicians to sort out, or even a piece of refuse cluttering a public space. Or I can respond with faith and charity, and see in this person a human being with a dignity identical to my own, a creature infinitely loved by the Father, an image of God, a brother or sister redeemed by Jesus Christ.

Pope Francis Gaudete et Exsultate

*Lord our God,
You who so mysteriously call upon us to share in the sufferings of Christ, fill our hearts with compassion for those who lack the warmth of a home*
