The Bottom Line

Moses drew the bottom line for the people of God when he presented the stone tablets to them at the base of Sinai: Here are ten things you must, and must not, do. Love God, honour your parents, don’t lie, steal, kill.

Most of us know the Commandments well enough to know when we break them without peeking back at the Exodus story.

To ask – which commandment of God is the greatest? – is a bit like asking for a hierarchy of evil for future reference. As Robert Orbin says, most of us would like to be delivered from evil – but would like to keep in touch. The great commandment of Jesus doesn’t give us that option. Loving God with heart, soul and mind is a pretty exclusive commitment. When it comes to life commitments, even a little infidelity is too much.

How does our commitment to God measure up against the Ten Commandments?
 How does it measure against the love command of Jesus?

May we express our love for God this week in prayer, praise and thanksgiving. Express our love for our neighbour, near and far, in concrete and significant ways: “These two commandments are pegs; everything in God’s Law and the Prophets hangs on them”.
