2021 COLUMBAN CALENDARS: At Maryborough, Avoca and Dunolly for $7

TODAY’S GOSPEL CONNECTION: The church year ends this week. Our calendar year is not far behind. These endings carry a certain finality about them. We’ve spent the year studying Matthew’s gospel, with its emphasis on God’s kingdom. We look forward to the start of a new cycle following Mark, who ponders the identity of Jesus and the meaning of his coming. We’re always glad to get to Advent, the happy season of warmth and giving. But before we leap into tomorrow, this church year has one more lesson to teach us.

The liturgical calendar always ends with Christ the Universal Ruler, but this week’s readings for this feast are remarkably different each time. In Matthew’s year, Christ’s rule is defined in terms of judgment. A ruler has the power to separate good from evil, lives worthy of reward from those deserving punishment. Rulers establish the rules and enforce them. But in Matthew’s judgment scene, the rules turn out to be completely different from what everyone expected. The Son of Man doesn’t quiz people about whether they went to church or obeyed the commandments. No one is asked about divorce or sexual purity or saying their prayers. What does concern the king is how the saddest members of society are treated.

If we took the quiz today, how would we do? This is an appropriate reflection for the end of the year. It’s also a good time to consider how we might prepare to pass this exam at the mother of all endings. Let’s ask ourselves the questions that appear in the last judgment. Where do we stand today, with the sheep or the goats?

Find a way to answer the needs of the hungry and thirsty, the stranger and the naked, the sick and imprisoned, in the upcoming year. Gifts of generosity, hospitality, and compassion are always in season.

“I’m telling the solemn truth: Whenever you did one of these things to someone overlooked or ignored, that was me - you did it to me”.

Remembering those who have died:

We pray for Ted Davis, Thelma Brady and Robyn Warburton who died recently and those whose anniversaries are at this time: Lil Penny, Catherine Aitken, Mathew Vincent Kelly, Kerryn Aquilina, Joseph Mullins, Vivienne Sciluna, Alexander Cameron, Grace Kaduthodil, John McArdle, Gaston Alvarez, Leigh-Anne Naeff, Mathew Mark, Nora Booth and Margaret Troia .
