Criteria for Volunteers

For the purposes of the identification statement drafted in compliance with the ASIC Instrument, the CDF has set out below its criteria for determining whether a person is a "volunteer" pursuant to the definition of "associate" in the ASIC Instrument.

1. General principles

- (a) A volunteer can only be natural person.
- (b) A volunteer must directly work for one or more of the following entities:
 - (i) CDFs;
 - (ii) Catholic dioceses;
 - (iii) Catholic parishes and related ecclesiastical organisations, such as Catholic Education Offices;
 - (iv) Catholic congregations, orders and other public juridic persons; or
 - (v) members of clergy and religious brothers and sisters.
- (c) The person must not be working for payment or reward, although they may receive payment for out-of-pocket expenses.
- (d) The person must be genuinely and substantially involved in the organisation or charity. Factors that will be taken into account include the number of hours the person works, how often the person works, the description of the role, the responsibilities undertaken by the person.
- (e) A person ceases to be a volunteer once they are no longer genuinely and substantially involved in the organisation.
- (f) A person is not necessarily a "volunteer" for the purposes of the ASIC Instrument, even if they fall within the definition of a "volunteer" in the ordinary sense of the word or is deemed to be a volunteer under other legislation.

The CDF acknowledges that there cannot be one "one-size-fits-all" criterion for all volunteers who assist Catholic organisations. Criteria for "volunteers" in different kinds of Catholic organisations are identified below. The lists are meant to offer guidance only and are not meant to be exhaustive and the CDF shall always have the final determination as whether someone is eligible to be "volunteer" for the purposes of the ASIC Instrument.

2. Parish offices

- (a) In order for someone to be an eligible volunteer at a parish office, they must be genuinely and substantially involved in the operation and running of the office on an on-going basis.

- (b) An example of an eligible "volunteer" may be an unpaid parish secretary who attends to all or most of the following responsibilities:
- (i) handles correspondence from the public to the office, whether in person, on the phone or electronically on all or most days that the office is open;
 - (ii) works closely with the parish priest on a day-to-day basis in administering the office;
 - (iii) is involved in parish activities, such as organising weddings, funerals and other parish or Church related activities.
- (c) Eligible volunteers might not contribute on a day-to-day basis but might instead be "genuinely and substantially involved" in other ways. For example, a member of the parish's finance committee would be an eligible volunteer if he or she regularly attends committee meetings and makes valuable contributions at meetings and to the management of the parish.
- (d) Examples of persons who would not fall within the "volunteer" definition include persons who:
- (i) agree to be on a roster from time to time performing functions such as welcoming, social organisation, music, reading, assisting with religious services, counting collections, cleaning premises or decorating parish churches;
 - (ii) assist the parish office on a one-off or irregular basis or on certain occasions (e.g. around Christmas or other holidays);
 - (iii) "fill in" temporarily for a staff member at the parish;
 - (iv) are guests of the parish or the parish priest; or
 - (v) are invited to attend parish or committee meetings on a one-off or irregular basis.
