

World Day for Grandparents and the Elderly

I am enormously privileged and grateful to be a grandfather of nine children, aged from 15 years to 1 year.

It gives me great joy to spend time with my beautiful grandchildren, to watch them grow up and to be involved as much as I am able in their lives.

I love taking them to and collecting them from school, watching them play sport, have them spend time at our home and spend holiday time with them and their parents.

It gives me particular pleasure when those that live close by, call in to visit. They are always very hungry!
