GOSPEL FOCUS

First and Last

"Yes, there are those now last who will be first, and those now first who will be last." These words of Jesus carry with them a major thrust of his ministry in the gospel of Luke. Jesus reminds his audience that their status in society means nothing when it comes to their status in the kingdom of God. What will make people 'first' in the kingdom is their acceptance of Jesus' message, their faith and their compassionate actions toward others. Jesus' insistence on the inherent value of the 'last' in society must have been a constant irritant to those who considered themselves 'first'.

The Australian Catholic Bishops Conference Prayer for Peace and Justice in Ukraine

God of peace and justice, who change the hardened heart and break the power of violence,
we entrust the people of Ukraine to you.
Protect them in this time of peril;
let them know not death but life, not slavery but freedom.
You are Father of all;
we are brothers and sisters.
Give us the strength to live that truth in love,
choosing peace not war.
Through Christ our Lord. Amen.

Focus on the Scriptures

This week's gospel passage picks up one of the major themes that runs throughout the gospel of Luke: the message of salvation is not reserved exclusively for the Jews, but is for all people; Jew and Gentile alike. A number of times in this gospel, the writer makes a point of having Jesus relate this controversial and fairly unpopular message to his audience. Today's gospel makes clear that to gain salvation, you have to do more than just show up! Like those knocking on the locked door and claiming friendship, we can't just turn up at the last minute and expect to be received. Salvation – entrance into the kingdom of God – belongs to those who accept the message of Jesus and act on it for the rest of their lives.

The gospel makes plain to the Jewish people of the time that unless they accept the message of Jesus and act upon it, they will get a terrible shock ('weeping and grinding of teeth') at the coming of the kingdom. Those who believe in name only will find themselves looking in from the outside and will see the greatest prophets in the kingdom while they themselves are denied access. To further make the point, they are told that people from east and west, north and south will be welcomed into the feast of the kingdom. References to people from the four points of the compass always indicate people from other lands – non-Jews. Jesus tells his audience that people who are faithful to his message, even though they may be Gentile, will gain salvation before anyone who thinks they deserve it because of their birth or title. The kingdom must be earned through faithful effort, not by just turning up and claiming to be a believer. © Greg Sunter

Laudato Si Action Platform Goal 7:

Community Resilience and Empowerment.

"We need a conversion which includes everyone, since the environmental challenge we are undergoing, and its human roots, concern and affect us all." Laudato Si n 14

The COVID-19 pandemic has challenged us to creatively reimagine our ways of connecting and living community. We have attended Mass livestreamed into our homes on social media platforms, teaching has been via online classes, periods of isolation due to lockdown and covid infection, support by family and friends has been very important.

We have been learning about resilience and what can be achieved by communities. We have also been learning that at times communities need support and coordination.

Laudato Si calls us to be communities of action at the local, regional, national, and international levels. Everyone's participation is needed if we are to care effectively for our common home. Pope Francis encourages us over and over, reassuring us that 'local individuals and groups can make a real difference' (LS 179). We are on a journey together.

Community building and resource sharing are pillars of the Laudato Si Action Platform that create opportunities to connect directly with communities around the world. It also provides resources to build communities locally.

If our community involvement and participatory action are animated by a sense of synodality, or journeying together as the pilgrim people of God, then our struggle for justice, ecology and peace will surely bear fruit.

OLHC Laudato Si Action Platform series: During Mass over the last few weeks, we have been looking at the Laudato Si Action Platform Goals. You are invited to provide some feedback on this series. The feedback and suggestion box will be in the foyer for a few weeks.
