

St Patrick's Stawell, Immaculate Conception Ararat, St Francis of Assisi Landsborough and St Bernard's Lake Bolac form Holy Spirit Parish, Gariwerd.

We acknowledge recognise and respect the elders and families of the Barengi Gadjin and Eastern Maar people, the traditional owners of the land on which our parish gathers. We commit ourselves to walking in unity with our First Nations people.

First Reading Wis 18:6-9

A reading from the book of Wisdom
That night had been foretold to our ancestors, so that, once they saw what kind of oaths they had put their trust in, they would joyfully take courage. This was the expectation of your people, the saving of the virtuous and the ruin of their enemies; for by the same act with which you took vengeance on our foes you made us glorious by calling us to you. The devout children of worthy men offered sacrifice in secret and this divine pact they struck with one accord: that the saints would share the same blessings and dangers alike; and forthwith they had begun to chant the hymns of the fathers.

Responsorial Psalm Ps 32:1. 12. 18-20. 22. R. v.12

R) Happy the people the Lord has chosen to be his own

1. Ring out your joy to the Lord, O you just; for praise is fitting for loyal hearts.
They are happy, whose God is the Lord, the people he has chosen as his own. (R.)
2. The Lord looks on those who revere him, on those who hope in his love, to rescue their souls from death, to keep them alive in famine. (R.)
3. Our soul is waiting for the Lord.
The Lord is our help and our shield.
May your love be upon us, O Lord, as we place all our hope in you. (R.)

Second Reading (Shorter form) Heb 11:1-2, 8-19

A reading from the letter to the Hebrews
Only faith can guarantee the blessings that we hope for, or prove the existence of the realities that at present remain unseen. It was for faith that our ancestors were commended. It was by faith that Abraham obeyed the call to set out for a country that was the inheritance given to him and his descendants, and that he set out without knowing where he was going. By faith he arrived, as a foreigner, in the Promised Land, and lived there as if in a strange country, with Isaac and Jacob, who were heirs with him of the same promise. They lived there in tents while he looked forward to a city founded, designed and built by God. It was equally by faith that Sarah, in spite of being past the age, was made able to conceive, because she believed that he who had made the promise would be faithful to it. Because of this, there came from one man, and one who was already as good as dead himself, more descendants than could be counted, as many as the stars of heaven or the grains of sand on the seashore.

Gospel Acclamation

Mt 24:42. 44

Alleluia, alleluia!
Be watchful and ready:
You know not when the
Son of Man is coming.
Alleluia!

Gospel

Lk 12:32-48

Shorter form

A reading from the holy Gospel according to Luke
Jesus said to his disciples: 'See that you are dressed for action and have your lamps lit. Be like men waiting for their master to return from the wedding feast, ready to open the door as soon as he comes and knocks. Happy those servants whom the master finds awake when he comes. I tell you solemnly, he will put on an apron, sit them down at table and wait on them. It may be in the second watch he comes, or in the third, but happy those servants if he finds them ready. You may be quite sure of this, that if the householder had known at what hour the burglar would come, he would not have let anyone break through the wall of his house. You too must stand ready, because the Son of Man is coming at an hour you do not expect.'

Reflection by Jenny Close

Jesus' message indicates that the disciples should live as if every day was their last: keep the lamps burning and be ready to answer the door when the Son of Man knocks. There was a sense of urgency in the early church regarding the Second Coming.

New Testament Commentary by Mary Coloe PBVM

Hebrews 11:1-2, 8-19; Luke 12:32-48

Get yourselves treasure that will never wear out.

The Letter to the Hebrews moves towards its conclusion in chapter 11 by providing an overview of Israel’s history, emphasising the faith of the ancestors: Abel, Abraham, Sarah, Moses, Samson, David and others. This long chapter leads into the affirmation we will hear next week – ‘with such a great cloud of witnesses surrounding us...’ The writer puts before the community the past experience of Israel, and how Israel’s faith brought about the many blessings God had promised: land, children, freedom and kingship. Faith in God’s promises requires hoping in a future that is not yet seen. Looking to the past, to what has happened, can provide assurance that such hope is not unfounded.

While the writer is reflecting on history on a grand scale of centuries, I think each of us can take this same approach when reflecting on our personal history. By recalling the patterns of God’s actions in our lives, we can find assurance during those times when God’s ways are more mysterious, for not only does today’s reading affirm Israel’s faith, it also assures us that God is faithful, God keeps faith with us. Each of us has a personal story which includes ‘a great cloud of witnesses’ most likely within our own family. I recall seeing my own mother kneel beside her bed every morning to spend some minutes in prayer before beginning the day; and my father active in the parish within the St Vincent de Paul Society. Their witness, so ordinary in its simplicity, spoke to me of faith and possibly had more impact on my life than the classes of religious education. Today you might spend time recalling your own ‘faith’ ancestral history – the people, teachers, family members, friends whose faith has surrounded you and provided your personal ‘cloud of witnesses’.

In the time of the first Christian communities, there was an expectation that Jesus would return to them very soon, even in their own lifetime. They certainly did not think that two thousand years would pass with Christians still waiting for Jesus’ return. Gradually, as time passed this imminent expectation of Jesus’ return declines. By the time Luke is writing, the edge of this expectation has worn off. For Luke’s community it is fifty years since the Easter event and people are getting on with their day-to-day living. In this passage, Luke is keeping alive the prospect of Jesus’ imminent return. He could come any day now – will you be ready?

If you knew next Saturday was the last day, how would you live this week? What would be different? This is the attitude Luke is trying to arouse in his community; live each day as if it was your last! The parables speak of employees having everything right when the ‘boss’ returns, or an owner staying up and being prepared because he has been warned about a burglary.

Luke provides a saying with great wisdom, ‘Where your treasure is, there will your heart also be.’ Sometimes people discover too late that they have spent their time and energy in the wrong place. Here, particularly for parents, getting the balance is crucial. Work is necessary in order to provide the necessities for the family, but it may be worth considering what is really necessary. If time and energy is not also given within the family, to building good relationships, then the house may be filled with many things, but not really be a home. Where your treasure is – there is your heart. What do you treasure most? Where do you put your best time?

Christians are called to live leaning into God’s future and having priorities that reflect this. This is not to be a burden arousing fear or anxiety, as Jesus promises, ‘There is no need to be afraid, it has pleased your Father to give you the kingdom.’ Jesus speaks in the past tense. We Christians have been given the basiliea; it is not something we need to earn by our good works or good living, it is a gift already given. Now let us live this truth in joy and thanksgiving.

What's Happening at St Patrick's Church?

This week the painters are in. They seem to be mostly patching cracks at the moment. People have asked. Yes, while they are up there they will clean the marble above the tabernacle. (The patron saint of marble workers is St Clement.) Last weekend, after Mass, we moved some furniture to give parishioners an idea of what the church will look like with the sanctuary platform gone and a centre aisle. This week we also had a look in the porch that will become Our Lady's Chapel. I discovered (do you remember?) that it has floor tiles to match the sanctuary.

Working with Children and Police Checks

All parishes in the diocese now have new rules regarding:

1. Online child-safety training
2. Working with Children Checks
3. Police checks

Online Training

All parishioners on these lists will now be required to do some online training regarding child safety. Parishioners are asked to provide the parish with your email address and then the diocese will send you a link to access the online training.

Please email ararat@ballarat.catholic.org.au with your name and email address

Who needs only a Working with Children Check?

- Ministers of the Eucharist // Cleaners and Gardeners // Caterers including CWL // Sacrament Program Leaders

Who needs both Children's and Police Checks?

- Visitors to people's private homes, aged care and hospital on parish behalf - eg with communion
- Parish Office Staff // Parish Finance Committee // Parish Pastoral Council // All Op Shop Volunteers

How much will it cost?

- ❖ Children checks are free for volunteers
 - ❖ Police Checks have a cost that can be reimbursed by the parish
 - ❖ Police checks are cheaper by using church's CVF code (Community Volunteer Fee) which is CVF4574
 - ❖ Registered teachers only need to show your VIT – it covers your children's check
- You will still need to do the online training
